ExpoCharger International, Inc., software developer, opens an office in Swanzy.

Swanzy, NH—July 28, 2003— ExpoCharger International, Inc. (“ECI”) opened an office at Homestead Offices in Swanzy, NH on July 21, 2003. ECI relocated from their office in Holliston, MA. ECI develops off-the-shelf software for trade show organizers, enabling them to place their event online. In addition, ECI works with businesses providing needs assessment and custom software, database and Web development services.

Dana Chenier, ECI president, comments, “We are really excited to be working here in Swanzy. It seems to me that the greater Keene area provides the perfect climate for entrepreneurs and growing businesses. We are looking forward to working with local businesses to assist them with their software, database and Web development needs.”

ECI’s trade show software includes ExpoCharger™ and ConferenceCharger™. The software modules can be combined to provide a complete solution including an interactive floor plan, searchable exhibitor lists, product categories, digital booths, conference sessions and speaker biographies. This enables the event organizer to add value and extend the life of the show.
